MONDAY, JANUARY 26, 1914.

An Evening Echo.

The education of the child is principally derived from its own observation of the actions, the words, the voice, the looks of those with whom it lives.—BY SHOP JEBB.

It took the board of regents a long time to find a dean for the law school at the university. That body finally solved the vexatious problem by seeing Jones.

The record breaking attendance and the great interest shown at the county teachers annual meeting indicate that the teachers are wide awake. This manifestation is strong evidence of earnest eagerness for unity in the profession and system in work.

Colonel Boone, promoter of a proposed great national street car system, is in the toils at last, but that will have but little effect on the traction scheme he has had, as there is no indication that it would ever get beyond the promotion stage were he as free from prison bars as the birds of the mountains.

There were enough of the members of the legislature who saw no reason why Speaker George should usurp the functions of chief executive of the state to defeat his scheme of an extra session of the legislature and he gracefully bows to the result of his canvass of the membership. It is well that the solons have decided that if an extra session is called it shall be called by the governor and not over his head.

A delegation of Democrats from the southern section of the state headed by Albert Sidney Johnson is in Washington today presenting their grievances to the president. These Democrats believe the president has been forced by Democrats in Congress to use patronage as a lever to keep members of that body in line. This assertion on their part will probably be an affront the president will resent as early in his administration the public was given to understand that he would resort to nothing of the kind. What they hope to accomplish by telling the president that his course is wrong is not stated. They will likely learn that their mission is useless.

An Important Decision.

The supreme court of this country recently handed down a decision of great importance, upholding an act of the legislature regarding hunting and the possession of guns. The law particularly applies to foreigners and it will doubtless be adopted in other states where there is a considerable number of the foreign element. The Wheeling News explains the law in brief as follows and points out its efficacy:

Now that the Pennsylvania weapon law has been pronounced constitutional by the supreme court, it will probably be imitated by a number of other states. In brief, this law prohibits any one not a citizen of the United States from hunting game or from having in his possession a rifle or shot gun. The usual laws as to concealed weapons, of course, continue in force as usual. There are several good points in favor of such a law. A large proportion of the crimes in which excessive drinking and fire arms are the main causes is committed by foreigners; mostly by that class of foreigners who do not intend to become citizens and who have not the mental qualifications to pass the citizenship examination even if they wished to do so. To keep all classes of firearms out of the hands of such persons is for the public welfare. A lesser point, but one which may be considered, especially by Pacific coast states, is that such a law would effectually prevent aliens from being in a position to fight against the United States from the inside in case of a war with their native country.

An Electric High School.

Electricity from a government power house furnishes heat for the new high school at Rupert, Idaho.

In the center of the Minidoka irrigation project, according to a statement just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. This is said to be the first case on record where a large building has been heated entirely by electricity. The use of electric current for heating and for a variety of other purposes in the new building has caused it to be known as "The Electric High School."

The system of electric heating in the Rupert High school is remarkable for its simplicity. The usual arrangement of hot air pipes, flues and so forth, has been adhered to, but instead of furnaces or steam coils a battery of electric heat units similar to those used in electric baking ovens, provides the heat. Twenty 18-K. W. units are installed in pairs, each pair with a separate control of the current from a switch board in the principal's office. Thus the principal can regulate absolutely the amount of current used. An emergency switch in the principal's office may also be used to cut out all current from the entire building—heat, light, power, etc.

Electricity is put to work everywhere in the Rupert building. A ten horse power motor, besides driving the ventilating fan, supplies all the power needed for the lathes and saws in the manual training department. An electric water heater supplies the hot water for the domestic science department, for the shower baths, for the various lavatories and for the science rooms. In the domestic science room each girl of a class of twenty has her individual electric disk stove and all necessary cooking utensils. This room will also have an electric range and other electric equipment for serving cafeteria lunches on a large scale.

In the science laboratories electric hot plates are provided for evaporation purposes, and each pupil will have an electric appliance to take the place of the Bunsen burners.

The electric lighting system includes an auditorium set with stage lights and switch control equal to those of the best theaters. The lighting and other equipment have been planned with the idea of making the high school building a model "community center."

The entire electric equipment was planned by local electricians with the assistance of United States government engineers on the Minidoka project. The government supplies surplus current from its own power house fourteen miles above Rupert, at a cost low enough to compete with coal. It is estimated that the cost of heating the new high school by electricity will be $1,760 per year, but the use of electricity saves the wages of a fireman at $75 per month, and the cost of installing the electric system was $3,000 less than for any other system of heat—the interest on this investment being saved annually. It is therefore believed that the use of electric heat in the Rupert High school, besides being a great convenience, will prove a real economy.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

The God's Truth. The country is full of Democratic prosperity and idle men.—Bluefield Telegraph.

Why Not? Just while Uncle Sam is sending gunboats to various troubled sections of the earth why not send Gunboat Smith?—Wheeling News.

A Genius. That Count Zeppelin is a genius appears from his ability to avoid being aboard his various airships when they are wrecked.—Grafton Sentinel.

Some Dictator. President Wilson told his disciples again this week where to head in and why. Woody, old boy, is some dictator.—Preston News.

No Prejudice. The Wheeling Intelligencer has no prejudice against extra sessions of the legislature. It is simply dead set against the blamed things.—Parkersburg State Journal.

Usual Occurrence. "Bryan contradicts himself," says a big headline in the Marietta Journal. Surely the Journal doesn't seek to palm a happening like that off as a sensation.—Parkersburg Dispatch-News.

They Will Not. John J. Slippner, of Benwood, and William Cole, of Williamson, have declined more or less lucrative appointments under Sam Hays, internal revenue collector for West Virginia. This is a habit Democrats will not cultivate very assiduously.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

He Does. We opine if some of those starchy gentlemen over at Washington, who refused to establish a mail route from Clendenia to Walton because the lowest bid was eight dollars per day, had to make the trip for a period of four years that they would consider the sum quite small. Bet the same fellow gets more than that for making his decisions about matters of which he knows nothing.—Spencer Times-Record.

He Wouldn't. Atlanta, Ga., has a fool Baptist minister, named Foster, who left his wife and children to take up with a "soul mate." After he was found out, his wife very sensibly announced that she would turn him over to the "mate," giving him a quit claim, and trusting that the mate would serve him as faithfully as she, the wife, had for many years. Foster says he has done nothing to be ashamed of, and that he will continue in the Baptist ministry. Well, he might, down in Georgia; but he can take our word for it that he would not in West Virginia.—Charleston Mail.

SAVINGS OF A NUT

The convict who escaped from the Moundsville penitentiary and took with him a fellow convict who limped should be returned to the state asylum instead of the penitentiary.

An exchange asks the following question: "Who is this man Sulzer that is talking about a man named Murphy?" Why, he's the guy that tied the tiger and called McCall.

Teddy had a little bull moose. That strayed away from the fold. In strange pastures it soon got hungry. And back into the ranks it stole.

A Philadelphia professor says that the world will exist 15,000,000 years. This statement inspires the hope that the Mexican trouble may yet be settled.

An exchange says that General Villa started life as a butcher. From all appearance he is going to finish life in the same role.

No news from Mrs. Pankhurst in several weeks and some will think that she made a few New Year resolutions and is adhering to them.

President Wilson announces that he will take no action looking toward stock exchange reform. He is probably giving Bill Sulzer a chance to "get even."

HERZOG WILL TAKE REDS SOUTH EARLY

Charlie Herzog, ex-Giant, new manager of the hoodooed Cincinnati Reds, will take the Reds south this spring earlier than ever before. Spring training will begin at Alexandria, La., about February 20. Herzog will work the life out of his bunch, hoping to wake them up and get them in readiness to play real baseball in April.

BUCKHANNON

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE) BUCKHANNON, Jan. 25.—J. B. White, trainmaster for the B. & O. with his headquarters at Weston, came to town on the special from Clarksburg Saturday night and remained until after the game of basketball was over returning with the special to Weston, he was heard to give his views on the new schedule, that has been the cause of so much dissension in these parts. He says it is thought if the train was run on through to Clarksburg as formerly, it would be very scantily patronized, since the street car service went into effect, and that having but a single track Weston to Clarksburg that train No. 6 interferred greatly with the traffic down in the Byron coal regions, where the freight business is really very heavy at all seasons of the year, and in his opinion the schedule will not be changed back as it was before, as it would not be in the interest of the company and he don't think the people would patronize it to any extent if it was.

It is reported that W. A. Harrison, chief clerk of the B. & O. here at the freight station will accept and take charge of the agency at Burnsville the 28th of this month. He will be greatly missed at the local station.

His honor Mayor Chas. Pos, spent Sunday in Clarksburg. We still like to go down anyway if it is a little inconvenient on a week day, get there.

Protracted meetings still in progress and reported to be having good meetings. It would hardly be fair to make even mental comparisons, when reading of the Reverend Sunday in Pittsburgh, though.

Chas. Shobe, the justly popular chef in the busy bee restaurant, has been off the job for a day or two attending to business matters.

Hazen Philipps has accepted the clerkship with the New Valley house. Captain Kiddy, who has been assigned to the local run between this place and Clarksburg, with the passenger run on Sundays, is being given credit for bringing them all in about on time, while it has been thought all along, that Messrs Criser and Duckworth were the real peers in this direction, it seems apparent there are others.

Chas. Stewart of Enterprise, was in town the past day or so looking after business interests and renewing old acquaintances.

O. J. Newcomb, telegraph operator with the B. & O. shops, was in town with his parents part of the day Sunday.

TEA ROOM

Of the Waldo is Used for Dancing Classes by Prof. Nott.

Prof. Finley W. Nott, the well known dancing master of Parkersburg, is in the city for the purpose of teaching dances to classes he recently organized here. He has a regular Monday night class for adults and one for Monday afternoons for children. The classes are taught in the tea room—formerly the American plan dining room—at the Waldo, which he has engaged for the purpose.

The dances he gives are entirely separate from the regular tea dances given there by the hotel management.

Both the new classes are large and the professor is having much success with them. The sessions this afternoon and night are the second in a course of lessons.

ONE DRUNK. There was only one drunk to claim the attention of the police court officials Monday morning and the session of court was of only a few minutes duration. The lone offender was not financially able to pay a fine and he was allowed to go with a warning as to a future offense.

Remarkable Suit values are those now being shown at

$15.00, $16.50 AND $20.00

In the new Spring Suits for 1914 we find the swagger, loose Eton jacket with cut-off, rather than cutaway, lines in front and with edges slanting obliquely from the top of the high belt to within a few inches below the waist line in the back, and there is a graceful spring, or flare, at the sides of the jackets.

The new Skirts are cut even narrower at the lower edge than before though with an added fullness at the hips caused by the short, flaring single or double tunic, which lend an air to distinct novelty to the lines. The adjustment of ripple bands, or flounces, in tunic effect above hips, or the use of a yoke effect below, which is the godet drape, is apparent.

The materials and style are beautiful, a pleasure to show them. Suit section, main floor.

GEN. GONZALES AND STAFF, HEROES OF THE HOUR AMONG REBELS

Arrow points to General Gonzales. The remarkable success with which the rebels of northern Mexico have met is due in great measure to the strategic mind of General Public Gonzales, the commander-in-chief of the Carranza forces in northern Mexico. The general, who is here seated with his staff, is concentrating every effort to complete the work of destroying the federalist forces now operating in the north.

KEYSER

Bunch of Basketball Players Defeat Scholastics in Loosely Played Game.

The Scholastics welded another link in the state championship chain when they defeated the Keyser Athletic Association five in a loosely played game at Hoffman Hall here Saturday night. The final score being 63 to 28.

Having three hard games during the coming week the Scholastics went into the game with a changed lineup to try out their men at different positions. Cam Osborn, who has been one of the biggest basket getters on the team as a forward, was shifted to guard, and McAndrew, who has been playing a sensational game at guard was shifted to forward. "Riz" Williams was out of the game and Bradford played center. With this patched team work ten minutes of each half and in the twenty minutes they tried for field goals ran the score up to 63. With all players in their regular positions and Williams at center the local team would have scored at least 100 points more as the Keyser team was one of the weakest that the Scholastics have met this season.

Keyser. Scholastics. Cunningham.....McAndrews Forward.

Carter.....Rigby Forward. Ferrill.....Bradford Center. Stafford.....Osborne Guard. Davis.....Garrett Guard. Substitutes—Greenwald for Cunningham.
